Webinar on Demand

About Webinar on Demand.

Financial institutions and trade organizations like credit unions and credit union leagues are taking advantage of Web and phone conferencing technologies more and more these days in effort to provide member education and corporate announcements. As these Web conferences aka webinars grow in popularity, the sheer number of available webinars increase. This leads to a growing need to manage webinar archives and make it easy for members to access.

Webinar on Demand is an online webinar archive management system that lets organizations easily manage all of their recorded webinars, including related session materials and handouts. Members or end-users will be able to log in and view a listing of all archives in the system. These users will be able to purchase the archives and pay via credit card or be billed to pay at a later time. You can also make your webinar archives available for free. Archives that have been purchased will show up under the purchased area where the users will simply click on the associated links to playback or download.
