"We had several new managers that we wanted to develop. One important training area for us was building solid relationships through coaching. The program developed by Tim and his team at Progress Coaching was more than I expected! The new managers who have been participating in this program are energized after each session and are visibly more confident as leaders. They have all personally thanked me for allowing them to participate in this training. I would highly recommend Progress Coaching's training for new and existing leaders in your organization!"
